

The Department of Mathematics and Statistics at James Madison University invites applications for a tenure track faculty position in Statistics starting from August 2018. Preference will be given to candidates with an interest in applied statistics, data science, research with undergraduate students, and who demonstrate experience in implementing innovative pedagogies and learning technologies. The department offers a B.S. degree with a major in Statistics, minor in Statistics, and is in the process of developing a minor in Data Science. Faculty teach introductory statistics and upper level statistics courses in support of statistics major and minor programs, as well as other mathematics courses related to their interests. Other priorities include consulting with faculty and students in other disciplines and working with undergraduates in research.

Candidates should have a Ph.D. in statistics or related area, demonstrated ability in teaching, and demonstrated potential in scholarship.

James Madison University is a comprehensive, coeducational, state university, located in the beautiful Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Enrollment is approximately 21,000 students. The department focuses on teaching undergraduates and conducting research with undergraduates. We have very active groups in statistics, applied and computational mathematics, mathematics education, and pure mathematics. There are opportunities for inter-departmental projects and cooperation. For additional information, see the department homepage at: <https://www.jmu.edu/mathstat/>.

Applicants should complete an online form at: joblink.jmu.edu/postings/1934 and then submit an online application through the mathjobs website: <https://www.mathjobs.org/jobs/jobs/10632>.

Complete applications will include: letter of application addressing the nature of this position, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, research statement, transcript photocopies, and three letters of recommendation.

Review of applications begins November 10, 2017. Apply by that date to guarantee full consideration.

James Madison University is an equal opportunity employer committed to creating and supporting a diverse and inclusive work and educational community that is free of all forms of discrimination. This institution does not tolerate discrimination or harassment on the basis of age, color, disability, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, parental status, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or veteran status.

We promote access, inclusion and diversity for all students, faculty, staff, constituents and programs, believing that these qualities are foundational components of an outstanding education in keeping with our mission. The university is interested in candidates whose experience and qualifications support an ongoing commitment to this core quality. Anyone having questions concerning discrimination should contact the Office for Equal Opportunity: (540) 568-6991.