Assistant Professor - Educator (Mathematical Sciences)

Assistant Professor - Educator

Department of Mathematical Sciences

The Department of Mathematical Sciences in the College of Arts & Sciences at the University of Cincinnati is seeking applicants for a full-time teaching Educator position at the rank of Instructor or Assistant Professor. Minimal qualification for appointment at the Instructor level is a Master's Degree in Mathematics or Statistics with at least two academic years of teaching experience. Minimal qualification for appointment at the Assistant Professor rank is a PhD in Mathematics or Statistics.

The Department of Mathematical Sciences is committed to excellence in teaching. The successful candidate will join a team dedicated to improving STEM education through the use of new pedagogical initiatives and cutting-edge technologies, and will be a part of the McMicken College Teaching Innovation Initiative, a research based, active learning approach involving new models of instruction which embraces online learning.

Review of applications will begin on December 1st, 2016. Complete applications, consisting of a cover letter, vita, a description of teaching experience (if applicable), and three letters of recommendation, which should include letters addressing teaching experience and quality of teaching (if applicable), must be submitted to MathJobs.org (https://www.mathjobs.org/jobs/uobs/9371). In addition, candidates must complete our online application, submit a vita, a cover letter, and a statement (maximum 1 page) on your commitment to diversity and inclusion and how that impacts your teaching philosophy at https://jobs.uc.edu. The description of teaching experience should include a brief description of courses taught (including level of course responsibility - course developer, course coordinator, primary instructor, teaching assistant or other) and prior experience with non-traditional pedagogical methods or use of instructional technology, if any.
