The Department of Statistics at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor positions to begin in September 2020, pending budgetary approval. We encourage candidates from all areas of research to apply. Minimal requirements include having a PhD in statistics or closely related field by September 1, 2020, a strong research agenda, evidence of ability to teach both undergraduate and graduate students, the promise of attracting external funding, and the promise of developing interdisciplinary collaborations.

Additional information about the department is at www.stat.pitt.edu. For informal inquiries about this position contact Dr. Satish Iyengar at ssi@pitt.edu. Applicants should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, teaching and research statements, a diversity statement, and arrange for three letters of reference. Candidates should apply online at https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjgz. Review of applications will begin December 10, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.
